Kids who see it are more likely to smoke.

It's a fact:

Research shows that kids who shop at stores with tobacco marketing two or more times a week are 64% more likely to start smoking than their peers who don't.

5 found slain in Calif. home

The Associated Press

SAN FRANCISCO — Police investigators probing the slaying of five people in a San Francisco home were still trying to determine if the suspect is at large, or whether the killer's body may lie among the victims' remains.

Police initially were investigating the deaths of three women and two men in the Ingleside District as a possible murder-suicide.

But police spokeswoman Cmdr. Lyn Tomioka told The San Francisco Chronicle that authorities do not know whether the body of the killer or killers is inside the home, nor do they know what weapons were used.

Tomioka said the crime scene was so tangled it was hard to assess what exactly had happened.

"We just can't tell," she said. "It is a very difficult scene. The medical examiner is going to sort out for us the cause of death."

The victims' identities had yet to be released.

Investigators arrived back on the scene yesterday, and continued to probe how the victims died.

The neighborhood in the southern part of the city is home to Lick-Wilmerding High School and San Francisco's City College, in addition to a thriving immigrant community, largely from Asia.

"It's an active, ongoing investigation," police Sgt. Daryl Fong said. "They're looking at all information and all types of evidence and still looking to determine what happened."

Neighbor Miriam Mendoza Moody said she heard a "loud male person angry or yelling at around midnight" on Thursday, but said she did not hear gunshots.

A woman with access to the home discovered the bodies early Friday morning.

She found one man shot to death in the foyer by the front door, said Police Chief Greg Suhr. She then saw a man and a woman dead in the garage before running out and calling police.

When officers arrived, they found the other two deceased women and determined that at least two of the victims were shot.

Mayor Ed Lee called the incident a terrible tragedy.

"As the San Francisco Police Department thoroughly investigates this incident, I extend, on behalf of the city, our support and sympathy to all family members and friends of the victims involved in this crime," Lee said in a statement.

Prez: Pass highway bill

WASHINGTON — President Barack Obama wants Congress to end a showdown that threatens to cut off federal highway and transit aid to states just as the spring construction season starts.

In his weekly radio and Internet address yesterday, Obama encouraged voters to pressure Democrats and Republicans to pass a long-term transportation bill. He said that otherwise, the economy will take a hit as construction projects sit idle.

Obama reiterated the White House call for Congress to adopt the two-year $109 billion bill the Senate passed overwhelmingly last week. House Republicans are divided over a five-year $260 billion package.

In the Republican address, Sen. Minority Leader Mitch McConnell of Kentucky said the time is now to repeal the president's health care bill.
